

Veterans Day Race
November 12, 2007 | Portland

The Portland Boys and Girls Club Alumni Association held its 78th annual Patriots Day 5-Miler about seven months later than usual after a storm wiped out the originally scheduled race, but a familiar face was at the head of the pack once again. (Note: Maine Running History does not consider this race to be the 78th Annual Patriot's Day 5-Miler as the race was held seven months after the original race date, and the course was not the same as used in the previous 77 editions. The course used was also not five miles.) Ethan Hemphill, 35, of Freeport, notched his sixth straight victory, this time on a makeshift course that started on the Eastern Prom Trail near East End Beach and included a loop around the Back Cove. Hemphill finished in 24 minutes, 45 seconds on a course that was likely one- or two-tenths of a mile short. Michael Payson, 44, of Falmouth finished second in 25:12, and Chris Gatchell, 21, of Portland was third in 27:17. (From the MTC website.)
